Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Legal Opinion of L. A. City Attorney Is No Bar to Sewer Connection

WHILE it is to be regretted that City Attorney Stephens of Los Angeles should advise against Glendale connecting its sewer system with the outfall of that city, this should not mean that Glendale has failed in its attempt to secure this connection.

THE Los Angeles city attorney has looked at the proposition only as it appeals to him through his legal vision. He does not say that he has given any consideration to the fact that while Glendale would pay construction costs the sewer would be used to quite an extent by the part of Los Angeles through which it would run, and later by the San Fernando valley cities now in Los Angeles, nor has he taken into consideration the sanitary aspects of the proposition. This, we feel, is of the utmost importance, not only to Glendale, but to Los Angeles as well.

WE would suggest that our city officials invite a committee of the Los Angeles city council to come to Glendale and look over the proposition in a thorough manner before making an unfavorable decision.

In Attorney Stephens' report to the Los Angeles city council he stated that he believed it legally possible to co-operate in the construction of the proposed sewer. If legally it can be done, morally it should be done. The interests of Los Angeles are closely allied to those of the nearby cities and anything that is detrimental to them will doubtless have the same effect on her.

WE are so close to settling the sewer question for all time that it behooves all citizens to do their utmost to bring about a satisfactory conclusion of this matter.

GLENDALE, the music center of Southern California! At the rate that members are being added to the music colony of the city, keeping pace with the rapid growth of Glendale, the possibility of making Glendale the music center of the southland may become a reality. Musicians coming to Glendale inquire many times as to where they may get in touch with other musicians or as to the existence here of a Musicians' club.

It is with the idea of forming such an organization, for which professionals, semi-professionals and musicians generally might get together for their mutual benefit, for registration and for the furtherance of the musical development of the city, that H. E. Cavanah of the Cavanah studio, 130 North Orange street has called a meeting of all interested. This meeting will take place at the Cavanah studio on Sunday afternoon, May 13, when plans will be formulated for a temporary organization.

MANY possibilities will be opened up with the organization of a Musicians' club, bringing together as it will, artists, teachers and musicians. Why should not Glendale, as well as Los Angeles and other cities, have its symphony or philharmonic orchestra and other similar endeavors?

Property Owners Considering Effect of the Construction

Property owners on North Brand are considerably interested in the progress of the new home of the Glendale Press which is now being erected between California and Lexington, also in the project for a hotel on the corner of California and Brand from which the house formerly occupied by Col. Tom Thornton has just been removed, because of the effect upon the value of their holdings. W. A. Horn, who is the owner of a 50-foot lot just north of the C. & S. Cafeteria, is debating whether to improve or sell his lot.

The people of Pasadena, the chamber of commerce, the merchants, the wealthy residents, all contribute to support the Pasadena Community Players. HARDING MAY BE GUEST OF EXCHANGITES

President Was One of the First Members of National Organization

C. E. KIMLIN PLANS

Proposes to Ask Chief Executive to Attend Hospital Function

BY W. L. TAYLOR

The Glendale Exchange Club may have the honor of entertaining President Warren G. Harding within the next few weeks, if plans being worked out by the Club and C. E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, do not miscarry. President Ripley Jackson stated that President Harding was one of the first members of the Exchange Club, and that he thought it very probable the president would come to Glendale as he will be in Los Angeles soon.

C. E. Kimlin was called upon to exert his influence in the matter. Mr. Kimlin said: "You are aware of the fact that we are building a sanitarium that will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 to $600,000, and I can think of nothing that would be more fitting than to have President Harding be present at the laying of the cornerstone of our building. We have taken the matter up with headquarters and through President Harding's brother, Dr. William Harding, who operates a sanitarium of our kind at Columbus, Ohio, and we feel that we may be able to get the president to come this way. I will do all in my power to have the president with us," concluded Mr. Kimlin. Mr. Kimlin stated he hoped to have the new sanitarium ready for use by January 1, 1924. The invitation is to include Secretary of Labor Davis, also, and the Glendale Exchange Club may have the honor of bringing two distinguished figures to our city very soon.

A considerable part of yesterday's luncheon meeting was devoted to routine busines, which included the naming of G. H. King and Dr. Belyea as committee on entertainment, to succeed Bud Sutton, resigned.

The matter of putting on the play, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," was considered, and Robert E. Johnson and Francis Gordon were named as a committee to consult the Community Service with a view to giving this good cause the proceeds in case the play is put on.

Adequate transportation will be provided the old soldiers and their families who want to attend Memorial Day exercises May 30. Francis Gordon, Mr. Coghlin and R. E. Johnson were named as a committee to solicit automobiles for the occasion and many of the members volunteered to use their machines. Full notice will be given the veterans through the Glendale Press when the arrangements for transportation are completed.

Bud Neal, one of the national organizers, was present and gave a short talk. He was also the winner of the attendance prize. He stated that he was intending to put in several clubs in the southland, but that the Exchange Club idea was to get the best citizens in the community and did not place so much emphasis on numbers as the character of members secured.

An invitation was extended the Exchange Club members to be present at the meeting of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scouts.

NEW BOOKS IN BRANCH LIBRARY

The Glendale South Branch Library is trying to co-operate with the schools in every way possible. The reading lists are posted for the seventh and eighth grades of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate School as well as for the high school.

It is the intention to procure as many as possible of those books that are not already on the library shelves.

A great many new books for the little folks and young people have recently been received. Some of those of special interest follow:

A set of "The Brownie" books, six volumes, by Palmer Cox.

"Ten Girls from Dickens," edited by Sweetzer.

"Nobody's Boy," by Hector Malot, translated from the French.

"The Bar Sinister," by Davis.

"The Story of Siegfried," by Baldwin.

"Grit A-Plenty," by Wallace.

"The Iliad for Boys and Girls," by Church.

"An Only Child," and "A Borrowed Sister," by White.

"Story of the Indian," by Grinnell.

"The Boys' Parkman," "A Book of Cheerful Cats and Other Animated Animals," by Francis Parkman.

"Daniel Boone, Wilderness Scout," by White.

"History with a Match," and "Ancient Man," by Van Loon.

"Jogging Around the World," by Dunham.

"Children's Book of Celebrated Pictures," by Bryant.

Books of description and travel about "The New Europe," "The United States" and "South America," by Nellie B. Allen.

"How the World is Clothed," "How the World is Fed," and "How the World is Housed," by Carpenter.

"The Boys' Book of Firemen," and "The Boys' Book of Policemen," by Crump.

There are lots of animal stories about dogs, bears, lions and tigers. The series of four volumes by Howard Pyle dealing with King Arthur and his knights will supply the demand for Arthurian romances. A series of books edited by Schauffler on holidays will prove very useful. There is a volume devoted to Lincoln, Washington, Memorial Day, Christmas and Thanksgiving.

There are lots of easy books for the very little folks just beginning to read.

Some noteworthy books for adults are:

"Letters, Personal and Political, of Franklin K. Lane."

"Woodrow Wilson and World Settlement," by Baker.

"The Declaration of Independence," by Becker.

"Our Changing Constitution," by Pierson.

"European Beginnings of American History," by Atkinson.

"Single Blessedness and Other Observations," by George Ade.

"Training Wild Animals," by Bostock.

Mr. W. C. Wattles of South Glendale avenue has just presented the library with a valuable collection of mining books including:

"Schnabel's Handbook of Metallurgy, in two volumes.

"The Metallurgy of Gold," by Rose.

"The Metallurgy of Lead and Silver," by Collins, in two volumes.

"Manual of Quantitative Chemical Analysis," by Cairns.

"Manual of Practical Assaying," by Furman.

"Mining Rights in Western States," by Morrison.

THE MARKETS

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, May 3.—Stock prices again crumbled sharply in today's stock market in response to concerted bear attacks. Heavy liquidation of the equipments and sugars extended to the rest of the list, the violence of the decline again touching off a number of stop loss orders.

French rejection of the German reparations plan, private Albany dispatches forecasting the passage of the "Dollar Gas" bill and additional cuts in crude oils and sugar prices furnished the short interests with ammunition for their campaign. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

The superintendent was paying his annual visit to the village school. Every face shone with cleanliness, all ears were strained to catch every word the man uttered; every hand was itching to be the first raised in reply.

The examination was coming to an unusually successful close when the great man asked:

"What is a lake?"

There was a long silence. Nobody could answer the question. At last Willie's chance had come and his hand shot up into the air.

"Well, Willie," asked the superintendent, "what is it?"

"A hole in the kettle, sir," was the proud answer.

ROMANCE OF THE SOUTH SEAS DUE AT THE GLENDALE

The big screen stories which are being filmed today are the romances and tales of picturesque adventure. Goldwyn Pictures corporation, realizing that the screen was tending this way, last summer selected a number of stories for immediate production whose principal appeal is the romantic one. Among these is Carey Wilson's romance of the South Seas, produced for Goldwyn by R. A. Walsh, "Lost and Found," which will be the attraction at the Glendale theater today for two days.

This photoplay was made in Tahiti; the director, the entire company and equipment being transported to that island where three months were spent in getting local color and "atmosphere." In the cast of "Lost and Found," are House Peters, Pauline Starke, Antonio Moreno, Rosemary Theby, Mary Jane Irving, George Siegmann, William V. Mong, Carl Harbaugh and others.

"Lost and Found" is but one of the recent and forthcoming Goldwyn productions which are strongly romantic. There was Gouverneur Morris' "Yellow Men and Gold," the two Zane Grey pictures, "When Romance Rides" and "Golden Dreams," Rupert Hughes' "Come On Over" and among the pictures ready for release or in production which are highly romantic are "The Christian," "The Strangers' Banquet," "Broken Chains," "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and "Ben Hur."

Robert Henri, the artist, told at a dinner in Rittenhouse Square—he had been lecturing in Philadelphia—a story about a rich Philadelphia painter. "Dodds," he said, showed his uncle through his studio one day. 'And what do you do with all these—er—works?' his uncle asked. 'Sell 'em,' said Dodds. 'Do you mean to tell me that you sell 'em, honest?' 'Sure I sell 'em,' said Dodds, a bit huffed. 'Then,' said his uncle, 'you're thrown away in this miserable art business. Come and take over the management of my distribution and I'll start you in with a five-figure salary.'"

NEW FASHION NOTE

A pulled-back effect not unlike the apron and bustle is a new fashion note.

Rheumatic Agony
NOW EASILY ENDED
Says Mr. James H. Allen of Rochester, N. Y.

It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges, I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints.

I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rehumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me.

I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenrhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease.

No matter how severe your case, I urge you to put your faith in the prescription that it took me years to perfect—a prescription that made a new man of me after doctors tried and failed.

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposit and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

Through the columns of this newspaper, I authorize every druggist to guarantee one full pint bottle in every instance. Sold by Roberts & Echols.—Adv.

CARNATION LODGE NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE

Election to Be Held at the Next Meeting of the Organization

The meeting of Carnation Rebekah lodge Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall drew an attendance of about 80 and was devoted entirely to business. Several visitors from Illinois and Minnesota were present.

Nominations for officers for the ensuing year were made, and more will be presented at the next meeting when the election will take place.

The announcements made by Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand, indicated that the next meeting will be of unusual interest. Several new members will be initiated and jewels will be presented to seven past noble grand officers who have not been thus honored by the lodge.

Plans were completed for the Hair Dressing Revue and dance, which is proving very popular.

The meeting of the Rebekah Afternoon club which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Coglin, has been postponed owing to the illness of the hostess.

Pomona College to Hold Summer Session

A number of Glendale residents are planning to attend the summer sessions at Pomona College, which begins June 19 and continues to July 28. While the courses offered in the summer session are designed primarily to meet the need of undergraduate students, there are lines of work that are especially helpful to public school teachers. The courses of instruction include chemistry, economics, education, engineering, English, geology, history, mathematics, political science, Romanic languages and secretarial.

In addition to the summer school session at Claremont a school will be held at the Laguna Beach Marine Laboratory of Pomona College, beginning June 20 and lasting six weeks. The courses given here will include general zoology and marine ozology, animal behavior and general botany.

LODGES CLUBS — CHURCHES

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Wednesday Afternoon club were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Julia Perkins on West Elk. They enjoyed an informal social afternoon, the only program being a few fine piano numbers contributed by Mrs. Waite, who was a guest, and songs by Mrs. George D. Roach. Mrs. C. A. Kaighin was also a guest. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

BIBLE SECTION OF TUESDAY CLUB TO MEET

At the meeting of the Bible section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held Monday afternoon at the club house, a fine talk was given by Mrs. Johnson, instructor of the class, on "A Miracle in Stone." It proved highly interesting. The next and last meeting of the section will be held in the tea room of the club on May 28.

PHILATHEA CLASS OF FIRST METHODIST MEETS

Miss Marie Oliver was hostess to girls of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening at her home, 1314 North Central avenue. About 18 were present. A cafeteria dinner was served and the balance of the evening was devoted to class-work in music and in singing. The girls had a very good time together and decided to go to the mountains for a week-end outing in the near future.

REHEARSALS ARE ON AT HI FOR "PAIR OF SIXES"

Stiff rehearsals are in progress at Glendale high for "A Pair of Sixes," the senior play to be given as a matinee next week, Wednesday, and evening performances Thursday and Friday. They are of course, directed by Harold Brewster, head of the dramatic section of the English department. It is said to be one of the most amusing comedies high school talent has ever given.

ALHAMBRA TEAM TO PLAY GLENDALE

Baseball fans are anticipating a very close league game Friday afternoon between Alhambra and Glendale teams. Alhambra has lost two games and won one. Glendale and South Pasadena have each lost three. The outcome of this encounter is therefore the more critical. It is expected that Bradbury will pitch for Glendale and that the line-up will be about the same as in the game with Monrovia.

HIGH SENIORS TO DANCE IN GYMNASIUM SATURDAY

Next Saturday evening the senior dance, which is the big social event of this season of the year at Glendale high, will be enjoyed in the girls' gym. Allan Pollock is president of the class and some novelties in decoration and entertainment are being planned.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE ENTERTAINS HI GIRLS

Tuesday, Occidental college was host to the girls from surrounding high schools and quite a delegation which included nearly all the senior girls, went from Glendale. They were entertained at luncheon, were taken through the sorority houses, and were given a good time in other ways.

Mrs. Mae Young of Long Beach has been the house guest for several days of Mrs. C. C. Cooper of 302 North Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper and daughter, Emma Laura of 302 North Central avenue were guests at a beautiful garden wedding which took place in Pasadena Tuesday night when Miss Mary Stacy became the bride of Meredith Moore.

Mrs. Anna Moore of 539 East Windsor road and her friend, Mrs. Katie Herron of Sunland, attended the Illinois picnic at Sycamore Grove Park Saturday. Mrs. Moore met old friends she had not seen since childhood. All had a royal good time. The Suckers that did not attend missed a treat.

Walter Pierce of 562 Oak street is back at work again with Coker & Taylor after an absence of three months, most of that time having been spent in a hospital. A piece of metal struck his eye, hurting it considerably, and then, to prove that troubles seldom come singly, he had an attack of appendicitis, necessitating an operation. Walter is a good workman of steady habits, has a large family and is paying for a home. This setback is quite serious, but leaves him undaunted for he resumes his work with determination to soon make back his losses.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson returned today from Visalia where they went to attend the wedding of Mrs. Ferguson's brother, Stanley Dickover, to Miss Margaret Hannah of Visalia. Both are graduates of the University of California and they will live in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby of 208 Hawthorne street and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lusby and son Dick, were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Lusby of San Fernando.

Pauline and Robert Jencks, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jencks of 409 North Maryland avenue, are recovering after a six-weeks siege of measles.

Word has been received from Mrs. Jennie Darling of South Everett street, that she is making a tour of the middle west before going to Minneapolis and other eastern cities where she will spend the summer. She went east by way of Denver and stopped over with her daughter there before going to Kansas and Illinois. She says she is having a great time with old friends and relatives whom she has not seen for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin of 236 North Central avenue are spending the day at Fullerton as guests of Charles Chapman.

Blake Franklin of 317 West Lexington Drive, will return tonight from a fishing trip to Fairview on the Kern river. Mr. Franklin and a party of friends left Glendale Sunday night in order to arrive at their destination in time for the opening of the fishing season.

Mrs. J. W. Garner of 600 North Louise street has as her house-guest for six weeks her sister, Miss Carey Joseph, who arrived yesterday morning from Portland, Oregon.

"NOTORIETY" FILM TELLS A STORY OF PRESENT DAY EVIL

When picture patrons see the latest masterpiece of Director Will Nigh when it opens at the T. D. & L theater tomorrow and Saturday, they will have something to think about. Their ideas on one of the big questions of life may experience a rude shock, but after it is all over, they will probably agree that Will Nigh's presentation of human ambition in "Notoriety" is the naked truth after all.

In a fearless photodrama that covers pathos of poverty and the dazzle of wealth, the master motion picture director lays bare the secret ambition of the average human being, lets it develop before our eyes, and shows us that it has as many dangers as delights. That secret ambition that rules the highest and humblest, is of course, the desire for success. At first glance, this universal goal seems to be a noble and natural one. Deep in our hearts every one of us is urged to shine in one field or another. Despite dreary disappointment, we all keep fighting on, hoping some day to achieve our aim. Some may look for fame in business, some go to the stage for glory, others seek their ideal in a happy home.

George Melford's latest Paramount production, "You Can't Fool Your Wife," closes at the T. D. & L. theater today.

"I was once telling a story at a tea party and it was not 'going' well," said Simpkins. "The story was about a 'Tommy' in the South African war. He was standing outside his tent one night when he looked up and saw a lamb wandering about.

"He cautiously approached it, and had just plunged his bayonet into the animal when, to his horror, he saw his commanding officer coming along. There were severe penalties for 'looting,' and he was panic-striken until he had a bright idea.

"'Now,' he said to the dead lamb, 'I'll teach you to bite, you little blighter!'"

"I finished the tale, and a painful silence followed. At last a dear old lady smiled encouragingly and observed: 'I never knew before that lambs did bite!'"

BOOTLEGGERS GET NOTICE OF BIG ASSESSMENT

Notices by registered mail were sent out yesterday to four hundred bootleggers, by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell, informing them that assessments of taxes and penalties ranging from $500 to $2500, for violations of the national prohibition act, were pending against them, and that failure to appear before him within 10 days would be accepted as evidence that they acknowledged the correctness of the assessments and consented to the enforcement of the law relating to their collection.

In all cases of bootleggers who fail to appear or to file protests, distraint warrants will be issued and property seized.

Where bootleggers demand and receive hearings and the assessments hold, the full amount will be collected by distraint warrants. Pending hearings bootleggers may submit reasonable offers of compromise, which, if accepted, relieves them of the entire assessment.

Liens were filed yesterday with the clerk of the United States court on the property of all bootleggers against whom assessments have been made.

Approximately three hundred bootleggers have taken advantage of their right under the law to submit offers of compromise. An intensive drive will be inaugurated by the revenue bureau on May 12.

ECZEMA--SKIN ERUPTIONS DISAPPEAR

Use Hokara for This and Other Skin Diseases Which Ruin Complexion

A clean, fair complexion is the most noticeable of woman's charms—look to your skin for your pleasing healthy appearance. Thousands of people suffer the unbearable itching and thoughts of skin broken out and marred by eczema. Most folks are even sensitive and embarrassed at their own appearance.

The majority of people trust to time and nature to get rid of their pimples and blemishes just because they dislike to use a greasy, vile-smelling ointment or salve. The treatment that does away with this unpleasantness is the Hokara treatment—modern, effective and pleasant. Does not soil clothing or leave skin greasy.

The power of Hokara to relieve quickly any itching or burning of the skin and to make it soft, white and velvety is almost miraculous.

Minor skin troubles like pimples, blackheads, barber's itch, etc., quickly respond to Hokara. Even the worst cases of eczema, ulcers, salt rheum and chronic skin diseases are successfully treated with Hokara. The marred complexion becomes noticeably less each day, leaving as it fades away a clear, healthy skin.

Sold on a guarantee and recommended by all good druggists. Jenson Drug Store can supply you. —Advertisement.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

BARBARA TAYLOR WINS HONOR IN GLENDALE

Mary Barbara Taylor, daughter of J. Hartley Taylor of 811 West Colorado boulevard, is chosen to represent the Glendale High School at the tennis tournament to take place at Pomona College on Saturday. Miss Taylor, who is an enthusiastic outdoor girl has defeated all competitors at Glendale high school, and those who have chosen her as the school's representative in the tennis meet feel that with her skill and dexterity in wielding the racquet she stands a fine chance to bring home the laurel wreath. Miss Taylor will spend the week end as a guest at Pomona in the dormitory.

SIGNS ARE NOT MARKS OF TRUTH SAYS C. S. PROUT

That signs and even miracles are no criterion by which to distinguish between the true and the false in religion, was asserted by Rev. C. S. Prout to a congregation at the Adventist Tabernacle at Eagle Rock, Wednesday evening. Rev. Prout uttered a strong warning against the danger of being misled by appearances, such for example as the miraculous healing of disease, which really demonstrates nothing except the presence of a supernatural agency. The agency may be good, or it may be the opposite; for the devil can heal the sick, and has often done it.

Reading from the seventh chapter of Matthew, the speaker laid emphasis upon the words of Christ recorded in verses 21-23: "Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy Name, and in Thy Name have cast out devils, and in Thy Name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: Depart from Me, ye that work iniquity." A person may do many wonderful works in the name of Christ, and yet not have his heart right with God. People may attend meetings at which they witness wonderful exhibitions, yet from which the Spirit of God is altogether absent.

The only safe path is that of implicit obedience to the word of God. "Thus saith the Lord" is far better evidence of what is true and right, than all the signs and wonders anyone can behold. It is the devil's plan in this day to mix the true and the false together, getting people to accept what is false and evil because they see so much with it that is good. We are to beware of teachers who present to us much that is good and true, yet with it all find some excuse for not obeying the command of God. Those who will enter into the kingdom of heaven, said Christ, are those who do the will of God; and this will is expressed in His law. There is no substitute for obedience.

We are living in a time when people run after the sensational and the spectacular, and we should remember that Christ and the Bible writers never laid emphasis upon such things, but always upon the written word of God. We are warned that in the last days many false christs and false prophets will arise, who "shall show great signs and wonders, insomuch that if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect." Matt. 24:24. This is why the day of God will come upon the world like a thief in the night. The way to escape these deceptions is to take heed to the "sure word of prophecy," which, we are told in 2 Pet. 1:19, is "a light that shineth in a dark place."

AMERICANS CAPTURE ENGLISH GOLF CUP

[By Associated Press]

SANDWICH, England, May 3.—The St. George's Challenge Cup, one of the most important golf trophies in England, has been captured by the American invaders. Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., and Francis Ouimet of Boston, former American open champion, tied for first place in the two days stroke competition which ended today, with aggregate scores of 153 each. They will play 18 holes tomorrow to decide the winner. Third place was captured by Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, captain of the American team, thus making the victory of the invaders still more overwhelming.

Roger Wethered, the British star, who was defeated by Jock Hutchison in the play-off of a tie for the British open championship in 1921 was definitely put out of the running for the cup when he turned in a score of 81 for today's 18 holes, bringing his aggregate score to 157.

DOROTHY SQUIRE CHOSEN FOR MAY QUEEN

Will Reign Over American Legion Auxiliary Dance Saturday Night

Announcement is made that Miss Dorothy Squire will be crowned queen of the May at the American Legion Auxiliary dance in the Woman's club house Saturday night. Miss Squire will have as her attendants the other young ladies taking part in the Maypole dance, which is a big feature of the evening's entertainment. All these girls had an opportunity to run for the queenship, but Miss Squire came out of the race eight votes ahead of her nearest competitor, Emily Barry. Helen Miller, secretary to Superintendent Harwood at Central school, also gave her a swift chase. The girls received their votes through the sale of candy made by the Legion Auxiliary members, the one turning in the most money being given the opportunity to reign over the merry-makers at the dance. So there was much enthusiasm and rivalry in their salesmanship, and all turned in splendid results.

EAGLE ROCK INSPIRES SONG

A song, inspired by and dedicated to the beauty of Eagle Rock, will be introduced to the people at the mass meeting on Friday night in the Woman's club house. This meeting is called for the purpose of organizing an Eagle Rock improvement association, so the song will be an appropriate feature of the evening's program. Mrs. Ruth Rae, who for years figured in musical circles as a splendid prima donna, wrote the words to the music composed by W. Shirley. Mrs. Rae will sing the new song which is named after Eagle Rock, at the meeting Friday. Mrs. W. Shirley will accompany on the piano.

Other numbers of merit have been listed for the evening. Mr. George T. Valance, brother-in-law of Harry Lauder, and well-known for his musical talent will sing several Scotch character songs. Mr. Valance is popular with the members of the Sunrise civic club, having appeared on the entertainment program of that organization before.

Mrs. John C. Kraus, soloist, and Mrs. Christine Pape Myers, violinist, are also favorites of the Sunrise club members, and have consented to appear on the program Friday night. Mrs. A. R. Rose will accompany both Mrs. Kraus and Mrs. Myers.

Announcement has not been made of the speakers for the evening. Mrs. F. M. Runge is in charge of the entertainment program.

Fire Department Begins Summer Season

The local fire department has begun its usual busy summer season. Yesterday the second call came in for assistance in curbing a grass fire on North Satsuma. A substantial addition will be made to the local facilities as soon as Eagle Rock is taken into Los Angeles. About eight men will be sent out to work in this district.

'AUTO HOBOES' ARE BECOMING MORE PREVALENT

EAGLE ROCK, May 3.—Complaint has been made to the state department that the public auto camp of today is developing a new type—the "auto hobo." Each day more persons are trading the family sewing machine and the best set of bluebird dishes for a sixth-hand flivver, and starting out via the gasoline route for a long jaunt on the roaring road. It is now an everyday occurrence to see a browbeaten flivver come humping spasmodically over a ridge, inches thick with dust, loaded with children, dogs and bedding, with a blackened coffee pot wired on the side, and a wind-burned, grimed man or woman at the wheel. They look as though "Home Sweet Home" would be about as sentimental a strain to them as "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean." And with the romance of the roaring road in their blood, it is.

And the unfortunate part of it is that many of these people never really settle down again. They find that they like the life, that there is a certain fascination in sleeping out under the oak trees where ants and spiders make merry in the dusty blankets, and hoot owls serenade the night. Where the fascination lies, few can explain. But after once the eastern, or midwestern family comes touring out to California in the asthmatic flivver that has been mended with hay-bale wire, tin cans and hairpins, and has been cajoled, coaxed and bluffed into getting here, the roving spirit is on every one of them. They become "auto hoboes." Many return to the old home town where the most exciting events of the day are breakfast, dinner and supper; and after one absence from church they are criticized, two absences and they are indiscriminately talked about, and three absences and they are ostracized by their neighbors.

They have eaten of the fruit of adventure, and long to get out in the open where nature forms them a temple of worship. Most of them don't realise it this way, but they feel the same call of the open road that made wanderers of those knights of the bypaths, Sundown Slim, Denver Dan and the Yellowstone Kid. They long for the camaraderie of the boulevard side where everything is cooked in the same kettle and dish washing and baths are events. They know that at the end of the trail is an auto-camp where they can spend a day, a week, a month, or a year. They do not long for home. Home is wherever the family pride and joy feels the strain of over-exertion, develops a pain in the engine, or the left hind tire, heaves a few gasps and with some spasmodic twitches settles down for repairs.

And these new tramps are a cosmopolitan lot. They travel in everything from an under-equipped stripped Ford, to a parlor, bedroom, and bath contraption, conceived by those who have passed so far under the spell of Lincoln Highway and the Midland Trail that they have built their model home on wheels.

The complaint received by the state department is that the "auto-hoboes" make too long stays at the public camps, and that the majority of housing equipment is inadequate for housing campers the entire year in the most sanitary of conditions.

SANTA FE EMPLOYEES RECEIVE WAGE INCREASE

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, May 3.—Twenty thousand maintenance of way and railway shop employees of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway have been granted increased wages effective May 1 through an agreement just negotiated. MURPHY'S STORE REOPENS WITH NEW OWNER

E. A. Schullian of Enterprise Furniture Co., Takes Hold

"Through the purchase of the Murphy Furniture store, I am expressing to the Glendale people my satisfaction with Glendale as a place in which to transact business," stated E. A. Schullian, for two years proprietor of the Enterprise Furniture company, 216 East Broadway.

Mr. Schullian spoke most favorably of business conditions in Glendale, stating that he had noted a tremendous increase in the demand here during the last few months. Encouraged by the growth of business at his East Broadway store, Mr. Schullian undertook the purchase of the Murphy store, which figured at a considerable sum, though the exact amount was not given for publication.

In opening the Murphy store under the name of the Enterprise Furniture company, Mr. Schullian is announcing a bargain sale to take place the last of the week, when he plans to make special introductory offers. Following the sale, steps will be taken to enlarge the stock, in order to include all of the popular items in furniture.

Mr. Schullian has been a furniture dealer of Glendale for the past two years, during which time he has made many friends here. He came to Glendale from Santa Monica, and said that he was drawn to Glendale by the evident business prosperity that seemed to be on the increase. His former home was in South Dakota, but he is now making his home in Glendale, where he says he is perfectly satisfied to remain.

Western Naphthenic Crude
Best for Motor Oils

ZEROLENE, made from selected Western Naphthenic Base Crude, vacuum-distilled by our exclusive process, will increase your car's power and gasoline mileage by about 5% more than you can get when you use the average higher-priced oil.

In addition, your car will run from 25% to 50% farther before carbon-removing operations become necessary. Both these facts have been proved by repeated demonstrations in the laboratories of this Company and on the road.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost half as much. Consult our Correct Lubrication Chart to determine the right body of Zerolene for your car.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK

STATE LEGISLATOR WRITES TO WEBSTER CONCERNING BURBANK SEWER BONDS

City Trustees Receive Application for City Marshal's Position; Street Improvement Proceedings Go Forward

Burbank is to get a sewer system, all in the course of time, but probably not too long a course of time. A letter from Assemblyman Weller of April 27 was read to the city trustees by City Clerk Webster at the council meeting Tuesday evening.

The letter stated that senate bill No. 385 had passed both houses. This bill validates the local bond issue and it is now before the Governor, waiting his signature. Now things will "mah-jongg" as it is said General Stonewall Jackson ordered his troops to do in the famous poem of Whittier's "Barbara Fritchie."

There are many steps to be taken before the system is really installed as this bill merely approves the sale of bonds for the purchase of the sewer farm. This will be about $25,000. Then there will be about $175,000 needed for a disposal plant. So the project may be undertaken this year but can hardly be completed.

The instructing of the city clerk to call for bids, the opening of bids and the awarding of bids for street improvements were the important matters considered by the city trustees at the Tuesday evening meeting.

Upon Mr. Miller's report and recommendation the bid for the proposed improvements on Cedar avenue was awarded to the lowest bidders Cornwell and Henderson, at a price of $13,977.01. Upon the engineer's report George A. Simpson was awarded the contract for improvements on Angeleno, Tujunga and Providencia avenues. His bid was for $29,054.12.

L. M. Fife asked to withdraw his offer to the city for purchasing gravel at 7 1-2 cents a yard for 30,000 yards. The offer which was made April 10 was accepted and instructions to enter into a contract was given. The council agreed to allow the withdrawal and the contract was cancelled.

The offer of Thomas Davis to purchase 30,000 or more cubic yards of gravel at 16 2-3 cents a yard to be removed under contract written to the satisfaction of the city engineer and street superintendent, was accepted.

City Clerk Webster was instructed to call for bids for the laying of water mains on Olive and Pass avenues since there were no protests and resolution 271, ordering the work to proceed was passed.

Bids for the work on Olive avenue from Front street to 150 feet south of Main were opened and the bid of George A. Simpson at 12 1-2 cents a square foot of five-inch oil macadam paving was the lowest, and he was awarded the contract.

William Heyer, retired New York policeman who is a pensioned patrolman, after 23 years of service, sent in his application for the position of chief of the Burbank police force.

The Meyer tract No. 6465, subdivision of the Rancho Providencia, and Scott tract was approved and accepted by the board.

One hundred and sixteen people presented a protest against the opening of Third street. It appeared to the board that the number of protests was sufficient to order all proceedings abandoned.

Mr. Bartlett, representing the Benmar Hill tract was present to ask about the kind of paving needed in joining the cement paving of Benmar to the San Fernando boulevard pavement. The selection of material will be left for a committee appointed by the board.

Acting Marshal Long appeared before the council and thanked the council for the honor of his appointment. He asked that the two deputy marshals, Ackerly and Wurtz, be re-instated on the force. George Miller was appointed to fill a vacancy on the police force.

DRUNKS FINED $450 BY JUDGE

Four hundred and fifty dollars was added to the city coffers Wernesday afternoon when four men drove out from Los Angeles to pay their fines to Judge Crawford for transporting liquor. Officers Olchvar and Marygold arrested the men at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon on San Fernando boulevard.

The men, besides being intoxicated were carrying a gallon of whiskey and a pint of alcohol. The offense is one that draws a fine of $600 in Los Angeles, but Judge Crawford thought a $100 fine for three of the men and $150 for the driver would suffice this time.

The men were middle-aged men. They were Jack Littleton, C. S. Varney, T. E. Drenon and Tim Misner. Misner was 54 years old, Drenon 42, Littleton 38 and Varnel 30 years old.

KITE FLYERS ARE WARNED OF DANGER

If parents of Burbank love their little children and do not want to buy flowers for their funerals it would be well to talk to them about kite flying. A small child barely escaped death this week when his kite nearly touched a live wire carrying 15,000 volts, according to City Engineer C. F. Miller.

Engineer Miller said that it would be healthier for kite flyers to send up their kites anywhere in Burbank but along Sixth street, Central avenue, Main street between Central and Magnolia avenue to Front street and in the alley between Orange Grove and Palm avenues as there are wires on these streets all carrying 15,000 volts.

Kites began to soar when the first strong winds blew and have just this week become more numerous than at any time. More and more children are enjoying exhilirating race against the wind and the watching of a the kite flying higher and higher. Many of the children prefer to do their own pasting and putting the kite together to buying them ready made so the sport increases daily. Therefore the children should be told by their parents of the places of danger for kite flying.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION TALKS OF IMPROVEMENT ON SAN FERNANDO BOULEVARD

Members Desire Passing of Zoning Ordinance; Talk of Doing Away With Alleys Cutting San Fernando

The city planning commission can accomplish nothing until a zoning ordinance is passed, seemed to be the opinion of the commission when they met Wednesday afternoon at the city hall. This is the vital spot in all the future work of the body. Without this basic principle to build upon it is hardly worth while to carry on the work, the members stated.

J. J. King was appointed to ask the council to see that a zoning ordinance is passed immediately. The commission brought the matter up two months ago before the council, it was stated, and no action was taken.

The commission made an intensive study, they took time from their own personal affairs in order that Burbank may be benefitted. They realized that while a zoning ordinance is bound to affect one or two individuals in an unpleasant way, at same time it will be for the good of the majority.

Two very important matters were taken up at the Wednesday meeting. The idea of having no breaks in the center of the business blocks and doing away with the alleys cutting into San Fernando boulevard was suggested. This will mean a better looking business section and will do away with some accidents.

The improvement is one that is bound to come sometime with the advancement of the town and so it is a logical time to prepare for it immediately before properties become more thickly settled.

The alleys will run parallel with the boulevard. Not only will this hep in traffic regulation but with the alleys running straight through, lit by big lights, will help to minimize back door burgleries, it was thought. This was only a minor benefit as the real advantage will be in the improvement of the business block.

The other important item considered was the selection of a street for heavy traffic leading down from the gravel pit. Trucks are now coming down Palm avenue. As this is a narrow street and will be less expensive to fix it was thought advisable to prohibit their using Magnolia avenue.

Mr. King reported that a man was asking if he could erect a bungalow court on Seventh street which was outside of the apartment and court zone but as the ordinance of zoning has not been passed all the committee could do was to ask him not to build for the sake of the "coming city beautiful" and tell him about the zoning district which it is hoped to be established.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST SCRAPBOOK CLIPPINGS

Hungarian Dance No. 5 (Brahms)
(Sketch furnished by Miss Freyburger)

The Hungarian dances were originally written for piano duets. He wrote 21 "Ungarisch Tanze," two books of which appeared in 1869 and two more in 180. Originally set for piano duets, the first two books were arranged for piano solos by the composer in 1872 and in Joachim's arrangement for piano and violin the dances have preserved their popularity to the present day.

The themes of the great majority are taken from the stores of national Hungarian "casardas" and are to be heard from every Hungarian land; but the spirit with which the characteristics of the Hungarian performers are taught and transferred to the piano forte is irresistible.

Nutcracker Suite (Tschaikowksy)
(From Music Appreciation, Stone)

This music was written to accompany a fairy ballet. The story is about a Christmas tree. Little Marie's gift is a silver nut cracker. At midnight she awakens and finds herself by the Christmas tree. Suddenly Marie throws her shoe at King Mouse and the nutcracker is victorious. He then changes to a fairy prince and takes Marie off to Jam mountain, to the land of the Sugar Plum fairy.

For Boys' week program the assembly hour at the John Muir school today was to have a Boys' chorus under the direction of Miss Verl Freyburger. They have been practicing two songs, "The Anvil Chorus," and "Shout for John Muir." Truths in Epigram

We may attain all the excellence of which humanity is capable, while doing the simplest daily duties. — Thomas Hughes.

All impatience of monotony, all weariness of best things even are but signs of the eternity of our nature.—George Macdonald.

Beware of calms in any form. This life means action.—Joaquin Miller.

REMAKING THE HEAVENS

Hardly a day goes by not marked by some astounding declaration ascribed to a scientist. Of course when Bre'r Jasper declares that "the sun do move" or a Voliva makes averment that the earth is flat, no commotion follows. Each is set down as a type of ignoramus. But the scientist must be considered. He has a right to utter himself with a seeming authority. If he errs grossly, the correction must come from other scientists, the layman taking the role of observer.

Were the ordinary citizen to discuss the Einstein theory he could establish nothing, beyond the certainty of his own presumption, and the assurance that he did not know what he was talking about. There are accepted conditions on the earth and in the heavens above, the absolute status of which has been regarded as beyond question or cavil. One of these is that the globe turns on its axis. Arises Paul Painleve, French mathematician, to declare that it doesn't. Next!

Says Painleve: "Under the old teachings it was explained that the world turned on its axis, and in space. Of course this is mere talk for children; no such thing occurs, but such explanation must be given so the ignorant can have a mental picture of what the universe is like. Neither the earth nor the stars whirl in space."

An impulse to indulge in slang to the extent of exclaiming "What do you know about that!" is repressed with difficulty. On one point at least it is proper to take issue with the savant. There was no need of giving the ignorant "a mental picture of what the universe is like," unless a correct picture. To do so would have been merely to confirm them in their ignorance, and to stamp the creators of the false picture as frauds.

If astronomers can ascertain the truth as to the composition and conduct of the heavenly bodies, and have not the sense to put their findings into plain language, they have not done their work well. The untrained human mind is baffled by technicalities, and research employs terms in which the intellectually humble do not deal. But if the truth is known, and the knowledge must be confined to the few who discover it, they, the wise, but confess also that they are ignorant. The mind that works at so high a plane that it is unable to get contact with the mind below it, must represent much wasted energy, shed into space as the sun scatters beams that reach no mark.

If Mr. Painleve is aware that the earth does not turn on its axis, it ought to be a simple matter for him to explain what its habits are. People do not care for pictures of starry fantasies, but they have great curiosity as to facts.

NO FUTURE FOR TEACHERS

After an experience of eighteen years as a teacher, a member of the profession has resigned, stating that there is no future for one of his calling. This must be regarded as surprising. It suggests some inquiry as to what is to be regarded as a future; and if nothing that does not lead to affluence may be regarded as an adequate and satisfactory experience to which to look forward. The present has a value of its own. It may be embellished by beneficent deeds. It may be devoted to the molding of character. Its activities may produce lasting and desirable effects. All these possibilities are worth considering. Time is not wasted, necessarily, because it is not winning golden reward. There are satisfactions greater than born of wealth. The memory of service is a satisfaction. The training of boys and girls so that they may be fitted for the duties of life, is more than a satisfaction, for to many it is a pleasure. It is a work in which they take real joy.

Ordinarily teachers do not become rich. In cities at least, they receive fair pay. It is wholly a supposable case that a teacher might have a surplus for investment. In a rapidly developing community there are many chances to become a captalist, if only to the moderate extent of buying property certain to increase in value. Not many professions tend to lift the ones who have elected to follow them, directly to financial independence. Here and there the lawyer becomes rich, or the doctor does, or the newspaperman. Ordinarily all of these callings have to be content with moderate incomes. In each are to be found individuals to whom life is a constant struggle. They lack the acquisitive faculty, even if they have the instinct for creature comforts.

In every line of human activity there are those who might declare with the retiring pedagogue "my calling has no future." Nevertheless, in each of these callings there would remain other adherents, not worrying so much about the future as busy making the most of the passing moment.

THE PRESIDENT'S CONFESSION

It is off President Harding's chest at last. He has laid bare an episode of his youth that for a long time, until he was past the spanking age, he had kept secret. In his boyhood, carelessly casting a stone, as all boys will, he happened to hit a worthy gander, so smiting the bird that fatal results ensued. Doubtless the boy was sorry and a little worried, but among his emotions he must have felt a thrill of pride. To throw a stone and get results, other perhaps than a broken window, is regarded as a juvenile triumph. Yet conscience got to work on the slayer of the goose. It seems that the tragedy was laid at the door of a turkey gobbler that never in all its life had had the distinction of killing a goose. The gobbler, however, had not had an unsullied career, and was known to swing a mean beak. Nevertheless, unable to state the facts, the gobbler fell sacrifice to the ax, and the real criminal sat at the table where the stuffed victim steamed appetizingly. More than this, he devoured his share, and probably then some, being a growing, out-door kid.

The story does not quite form a pair with the cherry tree yarn, for the Harding tale is a verity. It reveals an incident wholly in consonance with wholesome, happy boyhood. Every urchin throws stones. The unusual element in this instance was that the missile was so effective. As to the ethics involved there may be various opinions. There was no possibility of reviving a goose, deceased. Had the gobbler been spared, it could have been for but a short time. It merely went the way of gobblers with untoward haste, and with reputation damaged. But after all, reputation isn't much to a gobbler. Nevertheless, vindication was a seemly act, and perhaps the President will be enabled with mind relieved, to face the trying problem of his station.

OUT OF THE NORTH

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

When anything beautiful comes my way my first thought is to pass it on. This morning a letter came to me from J. Morgan, keeper of the lighthouse on Green Island, Port Simpson, British Columbia. He was writing a friendly letter because at one time I had been instrumental in securing for the family marooned on that far away island friends and magazines. Some one had told him that I was not well—though I now am well—and he wrote.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

He was once a newspaper man, but after a quarter of a century in harness he broke down and sought the seclusion of his island home, where he and his family enjoy treasures that can only come to those whose spiritual eyes have been opened.

Here is a little incident, one of many, that made up his delightful letter.

I know you will love it, as I did:

"The sun is shining again and the gulls are apartment hunting.

"Thousands of snipe are at drill, and in a few days they will leave us for a few weeks, to come back in ever increasing numbers. Have you ever seen snipes at drill? It is one of the prettiest sights imaginable; and one is almost tempted to believe those who aver that each species of the animal kingdom is guided by a group spirit. There are several flocks of these beautiful birds here, hundreds to a flock. We call them regiments. They seem to keep more or less separate. We will see them on the rocks as if asleep. Instantly, as if at a given signal, one of the regiments will rise in formation. They fly very swiftly and as they fly they wheel, dip, rise, dip again, wheel to the right, then to the left, up, down, every inch of the way, not one can be seen out of line.

"They do not appear to have a leader. No signal can be noted, although there is a constant twittering as they fly.

"Each manoeuver is executed instantaneously by the whole flock, and we marvel by what means they know when to altar their course.

"As they hesitate for an instant before returning, poised in the air, and the sun catches the white under feathers, they appear like so many shimmering silver sequins stitched on gauze, each spaced just so, and as though the gauze had been picked up by the breeze and was being blown in every direction.

"Then they will suddenly stop as if they had encountered some invisible obstacle, flutter for a moment, and drop to earth, still in line, all fold their wings; head down; gone to sleep.

"They are so tame that we can approach within five or six yards of them. Often while they are in flight a hawk will dash after them. Then we note a peculiar thing. One snipe will leave the formation and fly straight forward, as if to divert attention from the flock, and while the main body will continue their manoeuvers as if nothing had happened, we see a life and death race between the snipe and the hawk. I have often followed these races with the binoculars, and though they seem evenly matched as to speed, I have never seen a hawk secure his prey. When hard pressed the snipe will dive onto the surface of the water; the hawk, unable to check its flight, goes sailing past, and before it can turn, the snipe is off again to a good start."

Is that not a beautiful picture? To me it is, and I have published it that you may, as I did, lose for a few moments the sense of crowded cities and jarring sounds, to live and thrill with the birds of the far north in their joys and fears.

I hope you have loved that picture as I have.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

LETTERS FROM READERS

(Find the error in this article.)

Concerning "Feel"

Mary Robinson, Richmond, Va.: "Will you be so kind as to answer the following questions:

"Which is correct: He looks bad; or, He looks badly? He looks like her; or, He looks like she? They agree with each other; or, They agree with one another? (The reference is to more than two people.)"

Answer: "He looks bad" is correct. "He looks like her" is correct. "They agree with one another" is correct when more than two persons are referred to; and "They agree with each other" when two persons are referred to.

"Handled His Stuff Pretty Good"

John Hartigan, Chicago: "Mr. Carl Sandburg writes, 'And he handled his stuff pretty good . . .'"

Answer: Mr. Hartigan forwarded a very interesting review of Mr. Sandburg's. A reading of the clipping makes it very clear that Mr. Sandburg deliberately used colloquial English to make his article breezy and interesting, a license jealously guarded by many columnists. Of course Mr. Sandburg knows that the right words are very well.

"We Should (or Would?) Be Pleased"

M. Bauer, Brooklyn, N. Y.: "Will you kindly tell me if the following sentence is correct: 'We should be pleased to interview your salesman . . .'? A says the right word is should, and B says the right word is would."

Answer: The right word is should.

Yesterday's Error

Wrong: ". . . is it necessary to indicate the older (of two bearing the same name)?"

Right: . . . is it necessary to indicate the elder (of two bearing the same name)?

Vocabulary

"What did you mean when you said that you should disallow my leaving at this time?"

"I meant that I would decline to authorize your leaving."

Queries

D. Detjen, New York: "Will you be kind enough to say in your column whether the following is or is not correct: 'Neither Harry or William can jump more than five feet'?"

Answer: The right word is nor; as, Neither Harry nor William.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Soon it will be Mother's day.

Set apart for the honoring of the mothers of us all.

A time for reviving memories.

Reawakening thoughts of the year, long or short as they may be.

For those of us who are getting along in years, a time of recollections and blessed dreams of past days.

The day is one for all who appreciate what mother means to us.

The youth in his adolescence.

Maturity with its strength.

Old age with its dreams.

It is a time for the renewal of faith and the revival of sweetness and sentiment.

Who thinks lovingly of mother goes not far astray.

Or if gone astray will perhaps seek again the highroad out of love and tenderness.

For mothers have been great influences in the world in the shaping of men and women.

Mary of Nazareth, greatest perhaps in her gift of a Son, of all the mothers.

Simple, tender, kindly.

Having dreams of the manhood of Jesus.

When He should come into the world of affairs and leave His impression.

And how that same dream possesses every mother, great or unknown.

Conspicuous or inconspicuous.

How tenderly the greatest of men have turned to motherhood.

And how unselfishly have mothers done wonders of sacrifice and devotion for sons and daughters.

What labors performed and self denials accomplished that sons and daughters might have opportunity.

* * *

How have prayers for righteousness and protection been whispered at the bedsides of boys and girls.

And how has the heart of devotion poured out its full measure of love in behalf of children.

And how little has been asked in return.

Nothing save that children may be happy, useful, full of the fine graces of living.

For the love of mothers, unlike any other of the passions, has in it no element of selfishness.

It may be that there is yet time to reward mother as she deserves.

It may be that that time has passed, in the light of the years.

In the one case, more love to you, heart of childhood.

More love, that you may reward mother with it.

In the other case, more spirit to you, heart of manhood or womanhood.

More spirit and splendor and fine sense.

That the whole spirit of motherhood be rewarded with high aspirations and good deeds.

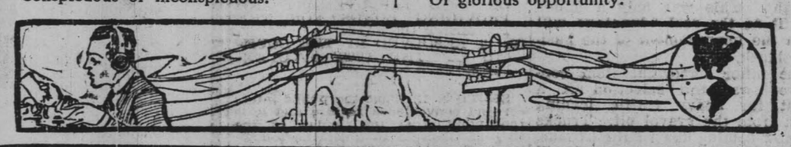
It is a day of aspiration.

Of inspiration.

Of resolve.

Of glorious opportunity.



Songs of the Poets

In Our Boat—By Dinah Maria Mulock Craik

Stars trembling o'er us and sunset before us,
Mountains in shadow and forests aseep;
Down the dim river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

Come out, pale sorrow, flee till tomorrow;
Rest softly falling o'er eyelids that weep;
While down the river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

As the waves cover the depths we glide over,
So let the past in forgetfulness sleep
While down the river we float on forever,
on the deep.
on the deeu.

Heaven shine above us, bless all that love us;
All whom we love in thy tenderness keep!
While down the river we float on forever,
Speak not, ah, breathe not—there's peace on the deep.

ROOM FOR HIM IN THE INN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT IS stated in the Bible story that when Jesus was born "there was no room for Him in the inn." That is why He was born in the stable."

Horace Bushnell, the great New England preacher of a former day, once made a sermon on this text in which he pointed out that even to this time there has been in the affairs of men "no room for Him."

Mr. Bowman, the hotel man who manages a number of hostelries throughout the country, recently announced that he was going to provide in each of his establishments a chapel for worship and meditation.

He explains that since the modern hotel provides bedrooms, dining rooms, banquet rooms and all other sorts of accommodations for the public, it should not neglect a room for quiet rest and worship.

This is in line with the best religious thought of all denominations: that is, that religion is rather something to be used than something to be championed.

There is no reason why the very highest element in human nature should be neglected or denied simply because people dispute about it.

It is a strange thing that the most important issue in the life of every human being is one that is banned in polite conversation. Gentlemen and ladies are not supposed to talk about religion.

This is the result of ages of conflict and intolerance.

The world is very slow in seeing that because you do not believe another man's opinion is no reason for not allowing him to believe it if he wants to. And is further no reason why you should not find some common ground with him so that both may be helped by the different points of view.

Emerson said that "all good men are of one religion."

The proper understanding of this sentence is not that every creed is true and is not that there is no right and wrong, no truth and no falsehood, and not that the whole matter is one of indifference.

What it really means is that the best part of man finds expression in the best thing he knows. The difference is not in the act of worship; it is the intelligence that provides its expression.

Why a Catholic, a Protestant, a Jew and a Buddhist cannot kneel together in the same quiet room and find that strength and refreshment that come from communion with God I have never been able to understand. And no more have I ever been able to understand why, because they do not believe alike, they should hate each other.

Mr. Bowman said, according to the press report: "I make the prediction that as a result of our action the leading hotels of the world will make provision for a 'meditation' chapel for their guests. The custom may ultimately become universal. The modern hotel, with its sumptuous appointments, should find it no sacrifice to designate a little space for communion with and worship of the Lord."

This is not a descent into indifference. It is an ascent into tolerance.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

INIQUITY IN WASHINGTON

[New York World]

Moral reform rises to new heights in the movement now gathering headway on the Pacific coast to have the department of justice inquire into social observances at Washington, D. C., as respects drinking, playing auction for money and serving liquor to guests.

The wife of a former senator having alleged in a series of letters to her home paper that such practices are prevalent at the capital, petitions are in preparation for circulation in several of the coast cities asking for more detailed information about the charges and requesting the attorney general to institute a grand jury investigation of the matter. What the petitioners specifically want to know is "the names of the high officials in whose homes gambling at bridge is permitted," the name of the senator's wife who said she "could have liquor tested at his apartment house" and at whose home the card party was held at which the subjects of conversation were "liquor, where to get it and the price and where to have it tested."

These conditions, of course, if true, point to social depravity of a heinous kind. Why should not the department of justice inquire into it? A county grand jury at Quitman, Miss., recently returned a report on the subject of more modest uniforms for high school athletes, and gambling at bridge by senators and their wives should all the more engage the attention of a federal grand jury. The functions of grand juries in moral regulation have not as yet been developed to match the new moral legislation.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Now that Sarah Bernhardt is dead, it might have been hoped that her friends would permit her to rest in peace, but they seem to desire her to turn over in her new grave. The business of writing an intimate biography of her is in progress. It is supposed to be the work of a friend, but a real friend would have allowed the great actress the undisturbed shelter of the professional laurels she had won.

The life of Sarah Bernhardt, the woman of the stage, was made plain enough to the world as it went along. She was a genius with a following throughout civilization. Her manner of living, not conventional, not to be selected as a model, was no secret. There was known of it all that was necessary to be known. It was the artistry of Bernhardt that made appeal. As an individual she had been granted considerable license. This detail of her career might, in decency, be overlooked now. It won't be, however. The ghouls have begun.

If reports in the news columns are correct the ku klux organization in this state is gaining in number. Perhaps the matter is not serious. Men like to dress up in weird costumes, and fairly revel in the mysterious. They demean themselves in the manner of a lot of grown-up Tom Sawyers. Perhaps after a little while they will get tired of the foolery.

Mayor Rolph of San Francisco has performed the periodical act of throwing his hat into the ring. Either he gets new hats right along, or this one is pretty well battered by ring experience.

Rolph's incumbency is of the peculiar sort that will terminate only when he declines to continue it. There will be an opponent or two in the field, of course, and afterwards they will wonder why they were there.

The trial of "Little Phil" at Los Angeles on the charge of having killed a policeman will be watched with unusual interest. After the commission of the crime, the prisoner is said to have boasted freely of having committed it. When he had been caught, and the prospect of being hanged seem ominously vivid, he changed his tune.

The question for the jury to determine seems to be as to which time the defendant would have been more likely to be lying.

Emerson Hough was a writer of virile American stories. His work after he had entered the sixties, showed the keenness and zest of youth, combined with the prescience of experience. Stories but recently from his pen were the strongest and most gripping he had put out. He dealt largely with border days and episodes, and into his tales he compressed the history of the pioneers. In fact, without assuming to do so, he showed the American in the making.

Mr. Hough was held in the highest respect by the public, and by his associates he will be remembered with affection.

There seems to be much interest in the bull just now. This has no reference to the kind likely to be peddled, but the real thing with hoofs and horns.

Women of Havana are objecting to a series of bullfights planned there. They feel that they have grown away from vulgar and cruel amusements. It does not please them to see horses brutally killed while toreadors escape.

In Mexicali a bullfighter tackled an animal that was too many for him, and, chagrined at failure, tried to commit suicide. The picadores rescued him, but could not restore his good humor.

In Spain there is grief because a strike has interfered with bullfighting.

Chicago seems to be making a real effort to get rid of its criminals. In raids on a recent night almost a thousand were arrested. It is not to be assumed that each of these is a desperate character. The fault to be found with all of them is that, economically, they possess no value. They are loafers, eating, but not working. And there is a demand for labor.

Of course in a round-up of such magnitude many dangerous individuals were caught. Following the usual rule, they will give a worthless bond and in due season turn up to infest some other community.

Last Sunday four people in an automobile were killed at a grade crossing in Alhambra. As one was a woman being hastened to a maternity hospital, the fatalities may be counted as five.

The accident occurred in the usual way. The driver sent his machine on the track just ahead of a swiftly moving train. There is only one outcome to be expected in such cases.

According to a dispatch from Paris, the Germans have contrived a method of forcing airplanes to land by radio bombardment. Certain rays are turned upon the machines, and down they come like stricken birds.

Perhaps this is to be regarded as a new revolution of war methods. One day the airplane is ruler of the deep blue sea, as well as the deeper and bluer sky. The next day it goes to the scrap heap, maybe.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

Last night we called on the Thompsons. We do not call there often, because Thompson is such a miserable little liar. One cannot depend on one word he says. He is forever wriggling out of something. He never says "yes" and "no" to any question. He makes some sort of non-committal answer. Then he swings in behind the majority opinion.

"Then why do you go to see the Thompsons?" snapped the joy of my life when I ventured upon these few remarks.

"You know very well why I go," I said. "Because you telephoned the Thompsons and said we were coming. You don't think any more of them than I do. But you have accepted entertainment from them and you feel you must repay. If you were on the level—and I were on the level—neither one of us would have anything to do with people we neither like nor respect."

So we reached the Thompsons just barely on speaking terms. Hardly had we sat down when the telephone rang and Thompson answered.

"Fine," he said. "Glad I've got hold of you at last. I telephoned just a little while ago, but got no answer.

"What? You were there all the time? Central must have given me the wrong number."

Then he came back to us.

"Terrible bores," he said. "I don't want to see 'em—never did telephone 'em—but what can you do?"

The Thompson kid is just old enough fully to comprehend what his father said. He looked at Thompson, senior, in a surprised fashion. He knew his father is a liar. Yet the Thompson kid knew that when he tells lies he gets paddy-whacked for it. You could see the thought forming in that kid's eyes:

"Lying is all right. But must be done carefully."

I'll bet a cookie that Thompson's father—or mother—was the same sort of a liar that Thompson is.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

Recent investigation of textile workers in England has shown that artificial lighting reduces the efficiency of workers by 11 per cent of its normal daylight value.

INVESTMENTS HOLD LATIN MARKETS

Combined with Engineering Skill, Defeat Europe's Effort to Corner South America

American capital, ingenuity, and engineering skill have broken Europe's grip on the markets of Latin America, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce declared today before the National Foreign Trade Council in session in New Orleans. He said:

"Shortly after the armistice the lowered cost of production in Europe threatened seriously to regain for Europe's manufacturers the Latin American markets to which the United States had naturally fallen heir during the period of the war. Every weapon of commerce known to the centuries - experienced merchants of the old world was employed to support this advantage. Salesmen's palaver of the "cultivated in Europe" brand broadcasted from thousands of trained tongues promised prices, deliveries, and qualities which seemed certain to chase the American and his goods from the southern avenues of trade.

"The vigorous onslaught did for a time seriously affect our trade relations. Some of the smaller American houses were even forced to close their doors. Now, however, the tide has turned.

"Throughout Latin America, with the single exception of Mexico, our exports for the last quarter of 1922 showed an increase, and frequently a very material increase, over those of the corresponding period of 1921.

"The outlook for the near and distant future from an American sales standpoint is more than hopeful. Latin America is selling her staple products, cocoa, coffee, copper, hides, meats, nitrates, sugar and other commodities, once more in the world's markets at increasingly satisfactory prices, and the United States is certain to enjoy more than a fair share of this revival of trade," in Director Klein's opinion.

"The part which American capital, engineering skill, and business ability have played in the development of the natural resources of Latin America is not so well recognized as it should be," according to Dr. Klein. "Credit for a large share of our present success in overcoming European competition is due the judicious investment of American capital in that region and to the pioneer work of American engineers. Long before the United states was in a position to export capital, its citizens were playing their skill and ingenuity in building railroads, establishing steamship lines, in opening coal and other mines and similar work in South America.

"William Wheelwright of Newburyport, Mass., seventy years ago laid plans for the first railway in South America and subsequently projected the first trans-Andine railroad and established the first steamship line on the West coast of South America. Just twenty years later, Henry Meiggs performed the tremendous feat of constructing the highest standard gauge railway in the world, the marvelous Central railway of Peru, and other railroad lines. In more recent times the construction of the Panama canal has been the outstanding achievement of American engineering enterprise. There have been many other striking evidences of our ability and our interest in the development of the resources of Latin America.

"Trade does follow the investment," Director Klein declared, pointing out that the truth of this axiom is illustrated by the heavy export of American machinery to Chile, Peru, and Bolivia where American companies are in operation. Continuing on the subject of the value of investments in foreign trade promotion, Dr. Klein said that in forecasting our Latin American trade the importance of these financial transactions must be given special consideration for they now amount to from $2,500,000,000 to $3,000,000,000. After the armistice, as a natural consequence of its newly acquired position as a creditor nation, the United States took the place of Great Britain, France and other European countries as the chief market for Latin American loans. These flotations reached their height in the first half of last year when a total of about $150,000,000 was issued.

"Sound and profitable investments, which will result in the increase of our trade in necessary equipment and especially in the development of the great natural resources of the southern republic, will mean enhanced prosperity for Latin America and a rapidly rising standard of living and purchasing power for its 90,000,000 inhabitants. The world at large will feel very directly the stimulation of our efforts in judiciously satisfying the capital requirements of our friends to the south," the commerce chief said in conclusion.

HOW TO TELL A PERFECT DIAMOND

F. C. Butler of Lewis Jewelry Co. Discourses on Gems

One of the most powerful microscopes to be used in the examination of diamonds is in the possession of the Lewis Jewelry Company, 133 North Brand boulevard, according to F. C. Butler, proprietor.

"Seen under this glass, a one-carat diamond looks as large as a dollar," Mr. Butler stated. "This makes the process of ascertaining a stone's degree of perfection, a comparatively simple one."

"A perfectly cut stone," he continued. "Will have the facets cut so that the under portion of the stone comes to a perfect point. It will be found that on some stones this point has been broken off, giving the appearance of a hole in the center of the stone. When the facets come to a perfect point, at the back of the stone they will throw the fire through, and give off the vari-colored rays.

"A perfectly set stone will allow the color to come through, and will be set so that the light will be admitted under the stone.

"If one were to inspect our stock of diamonds he would find that all of the stones are of perfect cut. That is why I consider that C. C. Lewis, buyer for the chain of Lewis stores is one of the best diamond examining experts in the world.

"We are carrying at the present time a stock that averages around $60,000, because of the faith we have in the Glendale buyers. It is usually the case that in the larger stores a stock of from $50,000 to $100,000 will be carried, in order to furnish the customer with a satisfactory variety from which to choose.

"The Lewis company operates a chain of stores in Long Beach, Huntington Park, San Pedro, and Glendale, and by virtue of this fact, commands a buying power which enables them to compete in price with any large store in Southern California."

WAS LOS ANGELES ONCE FLOOR OF THE SEA?

While it seems almost beyond human comprehension, evidence has come to light indicating that at some prehistoric age our own Los Angeles was once the floor of the sea. Excavators in various parts of the city have encountered earth of a peculiar quality, being minutely porous and having a large silica content. Analysis has proved this to be diatomaceous, or infusorial earth, the silicious remnants of diatoms, an aquatic form of plant life.

To trace these diatomaceous deposits back to their origin carries us back to the prehistoric age, possibly antedating the fossils of dinosauers and behemoths we so often read about and which we may see in the museum at Exposition park in Los Angeles. Live diatoms thrive abundantly in all waters of the earth, both fresh and salt. To the animal life of the sea they are of the same importance as food as grass is to the animals of the earth. Diatoms constitute the food of such fish as sardines and shell fish as clams and oysters. They have been called the "grass of the sea."

In size these diatoms are so minute that one hundred could easily be placed on the head of a pin and 40,000,000 could be contained in a box the size of a cubic inch. Over countless centuries these untold billions of diatoms have formed deposits in various parts of what is now the earth, but which must at some time in the far past have been either sea bottom or shore. Deposits such as have been found intermittently in Los Angeles have been found elsewhere, in Germany, Bohemia, Japan, Russia, Spain and in our own country, but in the United States one known deposit, commercially pure and available for economic use, is that of the Celite company at Lompoc, Santa Barbara county. This deposit covers approximately four square miles in area and is the basis of an industry in which Southern California leads the entire world. The word "Celite" is a trade marked name which has been conferred on the basic product of the Celite company at Lompoc. Celite is commercially used in ever increasing quantity for high temperature insulation, 90 per cent of this kind of work in the United States being done by Celite. It is used for clarification and filtration of syrups, animal oils, fruit juices, molasses, soaps and extracts. Practically 90 per cent of the cane sugar refined in the United States passes in process through Celite.

The silicious earth found in Los Angeles is similar to Celite, but the deposits of the Celite company are among the only known deposits of such quality in the world. It seems a far cry from plant life of the sea to insulation of oil stills throughout the world, to the insulation of boilers on the Leviathan and on the president's yacht, Mayflower; it seems strange to think that our sugar is clarified through diatoms and that every time we strike a match or brush our teeth we are using up a few diatoms from the properties of the Celite company at Lompoc, California, but such is the process of evolution.

Now the Celite company, which controls the industry, has sold $400,000 of 7½ per cent cumulative first preferred stock, class A, to build a railroad into its properties and add to working capital. This stock is being offered to the public at $100 a share by Pacific Bond and Share company, a Los Angeles institution that finances going organizations through issuance of preferred and common stocks.

A PRAYER

Who knows when the low shall be high
Or the high shall be low?
Who knows when the stout oak shall bow
To the tempests that blow?
And the smile I may give of my store,
When my sun at the noon,
The spirit of me may implore,
And who knows how soon?

The proud shall be humble and bowed
At the cast of the die.
And the humble and meek may be proud
Ere the day shall go by.
The bread I may give and the boon
I may render this day
I may cry for, and who says how soon
My skies shall be gray?

The mercy I grant, who shall tell
When my tried soul shall crave?
And the struggler I lifted who fell,
And the comfort I gave,
Who knows when in need I shall fall,
When the word that was kind
I shall hear and be glad and the way
I shall struggle to find?

Vainglory shall fade like a flower,
And the temples shall fall,
And the pride and the pomp and the power
In the shroud and the pall
But the dust and the ashes shall be,
And the sands shall be run—
Truth, give me thy jewels to see
Ere the day shall be done.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

By E. R. WAITE
Secretary Shawnee, Oklahoma Board of Commerce

THAT the Shawnee, Oklahoma, Gloom-Chasers have gotten together and organized a "Swat the Pessimist" club.

THAT they proclaim that the pessimist and his pestiferous ways will have no place in the new order of things.

THAT he is simply advertising his own inability to do things.

THAT it is necessary for all persons not now looking hopefully and optimistically into the future, to readjust themselves to the bigger and better things of life and business.

THAT the pessimist is the man who simply will not see the silvery lining beneath the cloud; who advertises by his looks and actions, his utter inability to meet his neighbor on competitive basis.

THAT the optimist knows that unemployment is gradually diminishing, that money is getting cheaper, that the fellow that hustles gets the business and that the pessimist must no longer be permitted to stand in the path of progress and prosperity.

THAT the men back of this movement maintain that an anlysis will show that there is nothing so radically wrong and the country is not going to the bow-wows.

THAT if it looks that way to some people, it is only a reflection of their own incapacity and inability to adjust themselves to the conditions of today.

THAT all should swat the pessimist! Ostracize him! Make him lonesome! Run the steam roller over him! Make him so unpopular that he will either become a business Christian or go back to the wilds from whence he came.
